INDEX

SENSORS & CONTROLS

Since 1976 the industry leader in designed, engineered and manufactured solutions for the heavy duty truck market, off-road equipment, and industrial applications.

APads and ACX-10

Our protection modules go beyond monitoring conditions of low or high pressure and voltage. They stop damaging events, such as over-cycling, and coordinate functions within the system.

Designed to thrive in harsh under hood environments, Index A/C modules save maintenance costs by extending the life of the A/C components and identifying problems before they become costly repairs.

ACX-10 Air Conditioning Life Extender

- Prevents rapid cycling under improper pressure conditions
- Extends life of clutch, compressor and hoses
- Prevents premature damage to clutch coil and plates
- Reduces stress on starter motor and batteries

APAds Air Conditioning Protection and Diagnostic System

- Prevents clutch damage from rapid cycling
- Protects clutch during low voltage or over voltage situations
- Improves A/C efficiency at idle
- Provides troubleshooting fault codes

Applications

Index's line of A/C protection products are proven on millions of heavy trucks and off road vehicles. Utilized by many of the top manufactures to protect and monitor A/C components.
